Why Sigma?

"SigmaCamp taught me to apply logic to everything that I do and truly understand what I'm learning." -Michelle L.

"All these things that I learned about at Sigma I would have probably not seen anywhere else." -Laura B.

"I think it has been a wonderful experience for our son, and he has grown both personally and intellectually in the week at SigmaCamp." -Jan F.

What is Sigma?

At Sigma, professors and researchers team together with undergrad and graduate students to put together a diverse, exciting program. Our academic program includes all areas of STEM, including math, physics biology, chemistry, engineering, linguistics, etc. Academic activities include lectures from prominent scientists from all over the world, semilabs (experiment-intensive courses), and an inexhaustible variety of workshops, from Origami to Vortex Theory to Glassblowing.

Beyond academics, Sigma is a great place to learn a new sport, go swimming in the lake, make art, and participate in trivia, talent show, and chamber concert. There's always so much to do!

In-person summer camp

SigmaCamp is the highlight of the summer for many of our campers and staff because of the community: Learning together, making new friends, and seeing old ones is why the spirit of SigmaCamp lives year-round. For this, nothing can replace an in-person program.

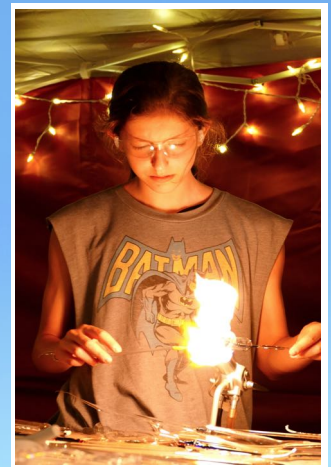

To make SigmaCamp 2021 COVID-safe, we are implementing strict quarantine and testing requirements, modifications to living arrangements and daily activities, as well as vaccination for all staff members. To read more about it, please visit our website.

We hope to see you at the in-person Sigma 2021. In case the circumstances change, we will be conducting a Virtual Sigma 2021 instead, like we did in 2020.

Apply to SigmaCamp!

Application deadline is May 15.
